

CONTROL SYSTEM

Franz Wassermann converts internal spaces into external ones, by attaching photographs to the sidewalk. The channels of society are controlled within the internal spaces of which Wassermann makes his themes. A desk becomes a control panel of power. The persons who sit at the controls are interchangeable. The channels through which they have directed mankind persist.

Text: ©Ingeborg Erhart

Translation by Jack Poppell and Robin Lee