

NOW I AM ONE OF YOU

2000/01 © Franz Wassermann

Video-installation

Cockchafers are destructive insects. Only every fifth year they will swarm in the month of May and devour the young shoots of the trees. Today, cockchafers are endangered with extinction.

In my childhood days, the ritual of biting-off a cockchafer's head was the condition for becoming part of the gang.

Translation: Andrea B. Braidt